

MUSSOLINI ADOPTS 5-YEAR PROGRAM; ON WAR BASIS

Announcement Made Thru
The Fascist Grand
Council

"FULL MILITARIZATION"

Retort to Britain's Expensive
Bid For Armed
Supremacy

By Frank Gervasi
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Mar. 2.—(INS)—Premier Mussolini today answered Britain's challenge for armed supremacy by laying down a five-year program increasing Italian military strength in all categories and placing the nation on a permanent war basis.

His far-reaching program of preparedness for war against "eventual aggression of nations rich in money and natural resources" was announced through the Fascist Grand Council, which held a meeting that began last night and lasted well into the morning.

Without specifying how much the program would cost, Mussolini called for "complete militarization" of the nation, according to an official communiqué.

Mussolini left no doubt the far-reaching program is Italy's retort to Britain's expensive bid for armed supremacy, declared:

"Only with the aid of science and the valor of people ready for any event can peoples less richly endowed resist eventual aggressions of nations rich in money and natural resources."

During the five-hour meeting, the entire critical European situation was reviewed by Premier Mussolini, Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and other members of the Fascist high command.

The official communiqué announcing the Council's dramatic decisions stated:

"The Council considers the military preparations of the nation satisfactory, but that every possibility, however remote, of limitation of armaments is now definitely to be excluded."

Therefore, said the statement, the following decisions were reached:

1.—Establishment of a plan for further, adequate increase of the armed forces.

2.—Continuation for five years of the duties of the Commissariat General for war manufactures.

3.—Complete militarization of all active forces of the nation between the ages of 13 and 55, with periodical recall to the colors of conscript classes liable for mobilization.

4.—Attainment of maximum self-sufficiency as regards military requirements and total sacrifice, if necessary, of civil in favor of military needs.

5.—An invitation to Italian scientists and technicians to collaborate in rapid attainment of this maximum of self-sufficiency.

The communiqué said that following a report by Count Ciano on the international situation, the Grand Council expressed its solidarity with Nationalist Spain and saluted the armed forces of Rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The statement said Franco's victory in the civil war "must represent a death blow to Bolshevism in the west and establishment of a new order of power and social justice for the Spanish people."

FEELS NO ILL EFFECTS

William J. Murray, who was struck upon the head by one of a quartet of bandits, who bound, gagged and robbed him at the Wright Service Garage, Bath and Otter streets, early yesterday morning, is reported as feeling no ill effects of the injury today. Mr. Murray was the victim of the bandits as he went to the gasoline pumps to serve them yesterday at 4.20 a. m. Upon working the gas loose several minutes later, he was able to attract the attention of his son-in-law, Raymond Wright, who resides in an apartment over the business place.

TELEGRAPHIC SERVICE

Today marks the addition of another service which Straus Cut Rate store, Mill street, offers to the public. The new service is the installation in the store of a Western Union telegram and cablegram receiving and sending department. All cablegrams and telegrams, after six p. m., daily and on Sundays and holidays will be received and sent from the store.

SOBELS ENTERTAIN

Dr. and Mrs. J. Sobel entertained a large group of friends from Bristol and Philadelphia, Sunday evening. The honored guest was the well-known traveler, lecturer and attorney, Maxwell Batzer, Philadelphia, who recently returned from a tour of the Orient. Mr. Batzer presented an illustrated lecture on Japan and its people.

COFFMANS HAVE SON

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paxson Coffman, 658 Pine street, are rejoicing over the birth of a son, Saturday morning.

Twelfth Anniversary Is Occasion for Party

EDGELY, Mar. 2.—Miss Lucy Parr was tendered a surprise party on her 12th birthday Saturday at her home. The rooms were decorated in red, and a large birthday cake graced the table. Game prizes were awarded to Emma Wright and Norma Kerr. Norma Kerr and Arlene Reynolds entertained with special tag dances.

Refreshments were served to: Earl Nickerson, Alma and Emma Wright, Jeannette Parr, Richard and Walter Rittler, Gordon Fahney, George Bintliff, Jr., Arlene Reynolds and Norma Kerr, Martha Welker of Bristol, and Lucy Parr. Lucy received many nice gifts. Guests at the Parr home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parr, Philadelphia.

THREE CONGREGATIONS IN BUCKS CO. BENEFIT

Remembered in Will of Mrs.
Sarah Long, Late of Perkasie Borough

THE MCGINLEY ESTATE

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 2.—Congregations of three Bucks County churches were remembered in the will of Sarah Long, late of Perkasie, who left a personal estate of $9,000. Of this amount $3,000 was left to charity. The churches benefiting are St. Stephen's Reformed, Perkasie, $500; St. Luke's Reformed, Dublin, and Blooming Glen Mennonite, each to receive $100.

The deceased stated that the Bethany Orphans Home, Womelsdorf, and the Phoebe Home, Allentown, both institutions operated by the Reformed Church, should each receive $500.

To Acme Lutheran Church, Guilford, Ohio, the testatrix bequeathed $1000. Samuel F. Stover was named executor. The residue of the estate will be distributed one-third to Joseph K. Bergey, one-third to Elizabeth Godshall, and one-third to Catherine Bergey.

Carrie S. Twining, Langhorne, who left an estate of $3,000, in a will containing more than 15 individual bequests, bequeathed $100 to the Trevoise Methodist-Episcopal Church.

A unique bequest in the Twining will was that Mrs. Ida Snyder, who was given $50, was also bequeathed a parrot. Should she not care for the pet bird, it was to be killed humanely and buried.

Because they did the testatrix favor, the following individuals were given bequests: Eleanor Stradling, $100; Elwood Twining, Beulah Paze, Emma Twining, Grant Oblinger, all $50; Jennie and Elizabeth Oblinger, $25, and her husband, $500.

Other heirs include a brother, Preston Carver, $100; Rhoda Carver, $100, silver and household possessions; Phoebe Ellen Carver, $50; Charles Edwin Baker, $50; Lillian A. Snyder, $50, and silver and furniture; Carrie Kresel, $50, and Annie Tomlinson, $50.

Two County Seat residents, Walter R. Lewis and Clara E. Hill will inherit the $1500 personal and $1500 real estate holdings of their mother, Elizabeth M. Lewis, who died at her home on Franklin street. Walter R. Lewis was named executor.

Two brothers will share the $100 real estate holdings of Amelia Lester, West Rockhill.

The $400 personal and $1800 real estate holdings of Ellen McGinley, of Bristol, will be inherited by three children, Thomas Scott having been named executor.

Children will share the $3000 personal and $1500 real estate holdings of Mary F. Kelly, Falls, who named Warren and William Kelly executors. The $1000 personal and $1000 real estate holdings of Deborah Douglas, Bristol, will be inherited by various relatives. Mary Duhamel and Adolph Ancker were named executors.

Two daughters, Rita, who was bequeathed $1500, and Anna Hofmeier will inherit the $250 personal and $2800 real estate holdings of Annie E. Hofmeier, Bensalem township.

The $4000 personal and $15,000 real estate holdings of Archibald Darrah, Warminster, will be inherited by his widow, Elizabeth Darrah.

The $350 real estate holdings of John Brunkoll, Plumstead, will be inherited by children.

Marie Maguire will inherit the $7500 personal estate of Charles Maguire, Langhorne Manor.

The $700 personal estate of Elizabeth Hogeland, Lower Southampton, will be inherited by her husband Charles C. Hogeland.

LITTLE JEANNE HARRIS, 4-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER OF DR. AND MRS. T. HARRIS, LEADS IN BABY CAMPAIGN THIS WEEK

Jerry Baker, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Baker, Hulmeville, Runs Close Second—Third Place Held by Mary Ann Gosline

NOTICE TO PARENTS

Many of the larger pictures which are on display in the window at Election Headquarters, are pictures belonging to the parents. If the parents of the babies entered have a picture which they would like to have displayed, please bring it to Baby Election Headquarters.

The candidates in the "Favorite Baby Election" swept by the first mile post with the leaders so closely bunched that a single day's voting might catapult any of the first dozen into the coveted position of first place.

Little Miss Jeanne Harris, four year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Harris, of Bristol, is holding first position in last week's tabulation, which was made Monday, with Jerry Baker running a close second. "Jerry" is the seven month old daughter of Mr.

FRANK DELISIO Pond & Lafayette Sts. Is Now Giving Baby Votes and Mrs. John Baker, of Hulmeville. Miss Mary Ann Gosline, is holding third place with Jennie Genco in fourth, and Ernest Mari, in fifth.

Look over the complete candidate list in today's paper and see where your favorite of favorites stand. And just because the name you seek appears far down the list there is no reason to be discouraged. It's the final vote that counts. All of which indicates that it is a whirlwind of a race—and that it is not too late to enter the merry quest for the big prizes if you go right to work and get your friends working for you.

To further encourage voting early in the election, FOUR times the face CREDIT will be given all merchant coupons deposited in the ballot box at Election Headquarters, 218 Mill street, by Saturday night, April 10th. Only triple the regular credit will be allowed the following week and during the final week just twice the number of votes printed upon the coupons will be credited. Boost for your favorite baby early.

A popular chord on the community's heartstrings has been found by the "Favorite" baby election, being sponsored by The Courier and progressive business concerns.

The "Shower of Cash" in which $1,000 in Cash Awards, according to the announced plan, for the winning babies has entrants from almost every portion of the community's trading area, although there are some sections still not sufficiently represented.

ENTRIES IN BABY ELECTION

Following are the names of the babies entered in the Favorite Baby Election up to last night. The enrollment books are open for additional entries. The next tabulation of coupons deposited in the ballot box will be made next Monday, March 8th. See to it that your Favorite Baby has a good representation for the next vote count by depositing some coupons in the ballot box at headquarters. Be sure to ask for your "Baby Votes" when making purchases at co-operating stores and vote for your Favorite Baby. Phone 3122 for particulars or call at the Election Headquarters, 218 Mill Street.

Tax Collector Is To Seek Police Protection

MORRISVILLE, Mar. 2.—A request is to be made to Morrisville common council by Tax Collector Neal Nolan for police protection when he carries out his duties of placing sale notices at the homes of delinquent taxpayers, who have paid no heed to notices mailed more than a week ago.

The collector reported that many of the delinquents have responded to the notice and request to pay but in the cases where the notices were ignored the tax collector will post notices for a sale of the household goods or other personal property.

INCREASE CONTINUES IN CO. RELIEF ROLLS

533 Cases and 2,093 Persons
As Compared to 504 Cases
Previous Week

PERIOD ENDING FEB. 20

A slight increase was noted in the number of families on the relief rolls, for the week ending February 20. At the end of the week there were 533 cases, or 2,093 persons, receiving relief, as compared with 504 cases, or 1,987 persons, at the beginning of the week—a net increase of 29 cases, or 106 persons. This increase resulted from the opening of 40 cases, and the closing of only 11 cases.

As shown in the following table, loss of employment in private industry accounted for the opening of 29 cases, loss of WPA employment for six cases, and other reasons for five. The number of cases closed remained practically the same as last week.

Cases Closed	Week Ending	Feb. 20	Feb. 13
1. Assignment to Works Projects	2	4
2. Employment in private industry	7	4
3. Other reasons (resources, increased earnings, etc.)	2	7
Total closings	11	15
Cases Opened
1. Loss of WPA employment	6	12
2. Loss of private employment	23	28
3. Other reasons (CCC, reduced earnings, exhaustion of resources, etc.)	5	6
Total openings	40	46
The average number of persons per case in the active caseload this week is 3.9. This is a slightly higher figure than that found among the closed cases, which averaged 3.8 persons, and the opened cases with 3.7 persons per case.

Two Killed In Explosion

Chicago, Ill., Mar. 2.—A terrific explosion killed two men and injured ten others in the boiler house of the Carnegie-Illinois Company steel plant on the south side today.

Police also received a report that four other workmen were missing after the blast, but officials refused to confirm or deny it.

The explosion demolished the one-story building and crumpled a 250 foot smoke stack as though it had been made of playing blocks.

"When Is Deficit Not A Deficit?"

Harrisburg, Mar. 2.—"When is a deficit not a deficit?" So asked Representative Elwood J. Turner, Delaware County GOP whip today, in a raking criticism of Governor George H. Earle's proposed budget.

Charging that, in effect, the Earle budget provided for a $10,000,000 increase in taxes, rather than a $25,000,000 decrease, as the Governor would have it, Turner described the chief executive as "one who, by a mere wave of his magic wand turns deficit into surplus—proved to his own satisfaction that a deficit places the Commonwealth in a sounder financial position than a surplus and transformed unprecedented expenditures into a reduction of the cost of government."

The Turner statement found an answer from Democratic House leader, Herbert H. Cohen, York County, who pointed to the $36,000,000 deficit Governor Earle "inherited from former Governor Gifford Pinchot."

Were it not for this deficit, Cohen said, the present administration would be enjoying a $13,000,000 surplus.

DR. VALERIA PARKER IS TO SPEAK IN LANGHORNE

Lecturer in Field of Family
Relationships Will Address
The P. T. A.

SCHEDULED TONIGHT

LANGHORNE, Mar. 2.—Dr. Valeria H. Parker, M. D., a consultant, lecturer and organizer in the field of family relationships, is to be the guest speaker this evening at the monthly meeting of Langhorne-Middletown Parent-Teacher Association, in the high school auditorium.

Dr. Parker is director of the Institute on Marriage and the Home located at East Orange, N. J. Among the positions she has filled in connection with her line of work is that of executive secretary of the United States Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board, established by Congress in 1918 as part of the war program for dealing with the protection of the armed forces from the venereal diseases and related environmental conditions, and for promoting a permanent peace time program and the development of medical and sociological researches in the field of social hygiene. She was president of the National Council of Women from 1925 to 1929.

Church and civic groups and educational institutions have been eager for Dr. Parker's advice and assistance. She has for some years conducted institutes on the subjects of "The Community and Its Youth" and "Family Relationships." A graduate physician, a trained social worker, a lecturer and organizer of unusual ability, a mother and a grandmother, Dr. Parker can deal competently with any social and family problem.

The local P. T. A. is able to secure Dr. Parker through the co-operation of the Quarterly Meeting of Friends. Dr. Parker's subject tonight will be "Protecting the Values of Family Life," and on Wednesday morning she will address the students of the high school on the theme, "Growing Up."

TWO WPA WORKERS ARE SENTENCED ON EXTORTION CHARGE

Stephen Kulscar, Riegelsville; and John Miholics, Bethlehem, Tried

3 YEARS IN THE "PEN"

Clarence John, Sellersville
Dairyman, Was Intended
Victim of Plot

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 2.—(INS)—Two WPA workers, who pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court yesterday to sending extortion letters threatening the life of a Sellersville farmer, today began sentences of three years each in the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg.

They are Stephen Kulscar, 23, Riegelsville, and John Miholics, 23, of Bethlehem. The sentences were imposed by Judge George A. Walsh.

Kulscar, who was arrested on December 29 when he was surrounded by G-men in a swamp near Bethlehem when he appeared to "pick up" a packet of supposed extortion money, implicated Miholics, who admitted his guilt.

Kulscar said he got his inspiration from "reward" posters tacked on the walls of the postoffice at Sellersville for fugitives sought by the Government for blackmail.

Edward A. Kalkick, assistant United States Attorney, stated that it was not the belief of their office that the two men realized the seriousness of the act committed and did not believe the maximum sentence of 15 years should apply. He also stated that neither had a previous criminal record and were not members of any organized gang.

Judge Walsh said the use of the mails was the most serious feature of the act.

"To meet a man on the street and threaten him is one thing," he said.

"There things are in the open. But to use the mails and threaten a man's life strikes terror into the hearts of his family. Because you have told the truth in this matter I am going to make the sentence as light as I can."

The "intended victim" of the plot was Clarence P. Johnson, a dairy farmer, at Sellersville. He received three notes demanding $150 on the threat that unless he paid the money his life and the lives of the members of his family would be in jeopardy.

Mr. Johnson was not in court, but a G-man told Judge Walsh he was considerably alarmed because he worked most of the day in the field and feared he might be ambushed.

Only a small sum was demanded. Kalkick told Judge Walsh, because the defendants decided it would be more easily paid.

ALL EVIDENCE DESTROYED

In the endless quest for new degrees of safety in air travel, engineers and operators encounter a difficulty which other types of transport have scarcely known.

When automobiles collide, material evidence remains which reveals a structural weakness or faulty mechanism, if such there were. When a ship like the Morro Castle burns, officers and passengers usually survive and contribute to a general account which goes pretty closely to the truth of what occurred. In Baltimore, a craft is on the way which is rated 99 per cent unburnable, and it is safe to assume that lessons from the burning of the Morro Castle are embodied in it.

But in the latest plane crash, in San Francisco Bay, and in the other disasters since early December which together constitute a series without parallel in air transport experience, little remains to indicate what actually happened. All hands, as a rule, have perished. Pilots, and passengers whose testimony might have had authority, have been killed. Where the plane burns, physical evidence that might explain the entire incident is lost. In no other growing type of transport have the reasons for failure been so regularly obliterated.

The one uncertainty with which aviation need take few chances is weather. It can ground its ships, if to go on would expose planes, and lives, to hazards beyond its proved ability to surmount. It was not weather that caused the latest crash; but storm and fog have been decisive factors in others.

With men and machines, aviation must continue to incur some risk, while it strives toward greater skill in one and more inherent safety in the other. But with the elements it is foolish to contend, while the whole future of commercial flying depends on the degree of safety it can afford the traveling public.

RADIO TALK BACK

It is reported that a gadget has been invented which will make it possible for radio listeners to talk back to radio broadcasters. Of course, this thing does not permit the listener actually to talk, but it does permit him by signal to express his approval or disapproval of a running program. They say it will also indicate to the broadcaster how large an audience he actually has instead of leaving it to his assumption that all the world is hanging on his every word.

We are not just certain how the thing would work out if it were put into universal use. Tastes are so different. The comedy which seems excellent to one is flat to another. Music of high grade is without appeal to the devotee of, say, Cal Calloway. Persons who go to sleep while radio dramas are running laugh themselves sick while Howard and Walton are arguing. There are those who would trade the Metropolitan opera broadcasts for Jack Benny or Fibber McGee. We are all creatures of prejudice. Knowing this, maybe the broadcaster would just thumb his nose at the flash signals. So, maybe the talk-back gadget will not have the expected potency of program control.

Anyhow, if it is a matter of self-protection, the listener needs, he can always "cut the darned thing off."

Here we are starting a month that should sign off the strange Winter of 1937—a month with the significant anniversaries of Good Friday and Easter, March 28. And, of course we have that favorite date, March 17, when all the parties wear green.

The first day of any month is apt to suggest bills, which in turn revives the anxiety about the prospect of climbing costs for some commodities this Spring. An upheaval of Nature invariably results in a corresponding price rise.

Those two fearful F's—flood and frost—began to affect food prices last month, but market authorities declare that consumers will not feel the real pinch until Spring.

The first price increase hit lemons and oranges as a result of the frost in Southern California, which cost growers at least $51,000,000. Other commodities that came to grief by the ton in the California freeze were cauliflower, broccoli, cantaloupes and iceberg lettuce.

Still sharper advances in citrus fruits were prevented only by abundant shipments from Florida, where "steamheated" weather has been ideal for the groves.

Not so many years ago, a jump in citrus fruit prices would have caused no flurry on the part of consumers, but fruit cups and the familiar fresh citrus juice cocktails, drunk as appetizers, have graduated from the luxury into the necessity class in most American homes.

This has been a bumper year for grapefruit, the crop being 30 per cent heavier than last. By the way, last year New Yorkers ate 17,000 carloads of oranges and more than 5,000 loads of grapefruit. Lemons totaled another 3,134 cars. Fragrant limes loaded down another 100 cars and 8,404 cars rolled in with mixtures of citrus fruits.

Oranges lead all other shipments, totaling 66,891,000 crates last year from groves in six West Coast and Southeastern States. California, Texas and Arizona supplied the country with most of its 27,883,000 boxes of grapefruit, while California contributed 8,000,000 boxes of lemons. Tangerines are shipped from Florida, Alabama and Louisiana. Domestic limes, now growing rapidly in importance, come from Texas and Florida.

However budget anxieties are not confined to citrus fruits. With enormous livestock losses in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, meat prices may be something to worry about. In the words of a prominent New York City market expert:

"What effect the flood will have on meat prices is something we can't predict. We may as well be prepared for higher prices."

To date in 1937, lamb and poultry are the only meats costing less than at the corresponding period last year. Prices for all cuts of beef are higher this year, while real and pork are showing slight increases. Poultry does represent a good buy these days, with cheaper prices for turkey, roasting chicken, fowl, broilers and duck than were paid one year ago.

The reduction in lamb quotations applies to leg, shoulder and rib chops, breast and fores. Lamb chops remain at the 1936 level.

In the plentiful vegetable department, one of the most notable economies this year (in most markets) is string beans, priced at about one-half last year's cost. Green peas also have shown a drop. So don't overlook the possibilities of an occasional home "vegetable plate" when meal planning becomes a problem.

"Leisure to Repent"

by Ursula Parrott

SYNOPSIS

Keith Sheldie knew he was letting Denise Rendale down badly when he did not offer to marry her upon learning her father had gone bankrupt. However, there was nothing he could do about it, for wasn't he dependent on his wealthy father? And for some unknown reason, Sheldie, Sr., did not want his son to marry. To do so, meant being disinherited. Keith frankly explains the situation to Denise. Though disappointed and broken-hearted, she bravely faced him and said: "Let's never see each other again. Good-bye!" At home, Denise's sister, Felicia tries to console the former in her matter-of-fact fashion by saying, "This time next year you'll have forgotten him or near enough. Didn't you know I had a broken heart once myself?" Then Felicia confides how she loved the late Duane Fenton and even on the day of her marriage to Eustace Gardiner Dayne, she hoped Duane would hear her heart calling and come to her. As an antidote for Denise's heart-break, Felicia recommends an early marriage to the fabulously wealthy young westerner, Gilbert Windon, who has been hovering around Denise for months. At first, Denise is indignant but later, when the mother she adores comes in with tears of happiness in her eyes for the financial aid Gilbert had given Mr. Rendale, Denise is in doubt as to just what course to pursue. Gilbert calls. He looked like Keith, but stronger, less handsome. And where Keith had played, Gilbert had worked and done much to increase the mining and lumber fortune his grandfather had established. Gilbert was determined to speak to Denise and the fact that Felicia stopped by now to say, "I have good news for you. Denise has dismissed Keith," did not affect that determination. While he waited, he thought of Keith. Gilbert had met the Keith Sheldies of the world... well-dressed, well-mannered, inconsequential. But not inconsequential if a woman one loved, loved one of them.

CHAPTER VI

Denise came in, in a dark blue frock very simple and not very low-cut—the sort of frock she might wear dining alone with her husband, when they weren't "dressing."

She said, very stiffly: "We're all extremely grateful to you, Mr. Windon."

And once or twice, casually, she had called him "Gilbert" before! A kind of indignation caught at him, that she should think he expected crawling gratitude, and so should think she must put him in his place! He had, not knowing it, the thunderous look which Felicia had protested on his face, and a look Felicia could not of course have identified; but anyone who knew his grandfather, when his grandfather was being determined, could have.

He spoke very fast: "I didn't wait to see you to have you say thank you for a matter that's just business between your father and myself."

She looked for a minute just like Felicia, being mocking!
"I can't think of any other reason that you might want to see me specially."

"Because I wanted to ask you to marry me. I've wanted to marry you ever since the first evening I met you!"

She stared at him. How white she was!
Townes came to the door and said: "Mr. Sheldie to speak to you on the telephone, Miss Rendale."

She went out of the room without looking at him again.
He was furious at himself. It was not so he had meant to propose to her. If she were stiff and embarrassed, it was natural. The situation must be difficult, to have to thank a man who, she probably knew, was in love with her, for lending her father money! Well, when she came back, he'd say he was sorry. He thought, with a kind of terror: "She may not come back at all."

But in a minute or two she came back.

All her life afterward, she was to remember it as the hour she learned that the whole course of life can be determined by a very small thing. If Keith had telephoned next morning, or even later that same night when Gilbert had gone home, though he had said the same things, she might have answered differently.

He said: "Hello, darling. You were pretty silly this afternoon, weren't you?"

She said: "Perhaps."

"I'm sure you were. We've had a great deal of fun and will have a great deal more. You know I adore you. I would have wanted things to be different. . . . But you're pretty young. I felt just slightly responsible."

But he moved toward her, only eager in that moment, when she looked so unhappy, to comfort her. An inspiration came to him.

"Denise, marry me for just a year, to give me the chance to make you happy. If I don't, I promise to let you go at the end of a year. We'll travel, we'll get to know each other better. Denise, please say you'll try it."

In a tired little girl's voice, she said: "All right, Gilbert." But he was not critical of the tone now. He was too happy. So she was to be his, this slender lovely child with a look of straightness, of honesty, about her. He put his arms round her. He kissed her more violently than he had meant. But he couldn't help it!

When she struggled a little in his arms, he let her go immediately.

Denise heard herself say, "I'm going to marry Gilbert Windon."

In that minute she remembered his kisses, and how answering his. She was frightened by the vividness of that remembrance.

He was saying: "Answer me, Denise. I'm telling you I worship you. Let's make up, and fly to Pinehurst for a week-end."

But she repeated, almost in spite of herself, something he'd said before. "You wouldn't like to be made feel responsible."

"You are a little Puritan, but I don't mind. I don't mind much at the moment. I want to drown my sorrows when you left, but when they were only about half drowned, I decided I'd better call up."

"Thank you."

"Well, then, let's go dancing about ten."

She had always loved his voice. It was the most eager voice she had ever heard. It was eager now, and confident as usual.

She said: "I wanted to marry you. But she was only speaking to herself aloud."

"Denise, stop it, dearest. We don't have to get married and cause a great row with Father, but let's go on."

She heard herself say, "I'm going to marry Gilbert Windon," and was rather surprised to discover she had put down the receiver.

She went back to Gilbert, and though she did not think of it, she was completely dignified. "Gilbert, I happen to have been, to be really, in love with some one else, who is not in love with me. That is the only answer I can give you."

It appeared she was not to be his, precisely.

She said: "You mean a formal marriage, don't you, Gilbert?"

She'd never heard him laugh before. Why, he had a very pleasant laugh! He looked down at her flushed cheeks.

"I didn't mean that, Denise; but if that's the way you want it, all right."

She felt immensely young. She heard her father's voice at the front door, heard her mother, on her way downstairs. They came into the drawing-room.

Gilbert said immediately: "Mr. Rendale, Denise has said she'll marry me. I hope you think—think it's all right."

He was as hesitant as a boy, Denise thought, and she had always (in the very little thought she'd ever given him) considered him so completely adult.

How very pleased her father and mother were! How gently her mother kissed her! And her father said solemnly: "I can only hope you will be as happy, Denise, as your mother and I have always been."

("They wouldn't be pleased if they knew it was only for a year. They would be incredibly shocked!")

Sara Rendale said delightedly: "We must telephone Felicia straightaway."

Denise said she would telephone because she wanted to escape sight of their delighted trusting faces.

BRISTOL HIGH TO OPPOSE UP-COUNTY TEAM HERE TONIGHT

(By Louis Tomlinson)

Results of Last Night's Games
Quakertown, 26; Fallsington, 15
Morrissville, 23; Doylestown, 21

Schedule for Tonight
Newtown vs. Southampton, 7:30
Sellersville-Perkasie vs. Bristol, 8:30
Bang! The lid's off on another Bucks County Basketball Tournament. And how it opened! The top was literally blown off with a dynamic explosion of wild, free-for-all, fast, furious, and exciting basketball crammed full of thrills and action as was expected when Quakertown met Fallsington and Morrissville opposed Doylestown to start the ball rolling for the county honors here last night.

And what's more—that's only the beginning! Sport fans, and especially those of the court sport, shouldn't miss these extraordinary exhibitions of the indoor sport as played in the Bucks County Tournament for it gives you the kind of basketball you like.

Look at last night's schedule for example and you will get an idea of the type of basketball in store for the fans of this section. In the first scrap, Newtown will cross bats with Southampton. Against teams of higher and better calibre these clubs didn't do so well, which is natural, but in their own class and equally balanced they should give the fans a real treat in a high scoring fray in a close tilt all the way, with Southampton given the edge.

The concluding fracas of the evening brings together two schools of first rate in the county, and each possesses a highly-classed outfit represented on the court this season. Of course, I refer to our own idolized Cardinal and Gray aggregation of Coach "Bill" Dougherty, who piloted them to their first Lower Bucks County crown in five years this season, and the upper countyites represented by Sellersville-Perkasie, who came in a close second in the Bux-Mont League this year. Naturally, with two such clubs meeting on the wooden ways, there is bound to be action, and action aplenty, for both teams will give the fans their money's worth at any time.

The schools didn't meet last year because Bristol was eliminated before they had a chance to, but Sellersville reached the finals, played Morrissville and lost, 20-14, in a close game. If they demonstrate that type of ball which they played last year, the fans can expect an evening well spent by witnessing tonight's battles.

Then there is the big game on Wednesday, that between the two winners of last night's battles, Quakertown and Morrissville. Then the semi-finals and the finals which will provide the court thrills that will linger in one's memory for many years to come. So, even if you did miss last night's tilts, you can still get in the best yet to come by witnessing tonight.

Yesterday's games were climaxed by an added attraction for the fans when Willie Fly of Quakertown got mixed up in a free-for-all with Cappihell of Fallsington. This hectic encounter delayed the game approximately five minutes. In the second game, Godshall of Doylestown landed among the spectators and injured his knee so badly that he had to leave the fray.

Besides these there were the regular thrills of two excellent basketball encounters not seen on the average court or game. The fans who attend these tilts really receive their money's worth—and more.

MORRISVILLE UPSETS DOYLESTOWN COURT FIVE

(By Louis Tomlinson)

In probably the best basketball game seen on the local court this season, Morrissville successfully opened their drive to retain the honors won by them last year in the first tournament play, when they knocked off Doylestown, 23-21, here last night in the annual Bucks County Basketball Tournament.

The fray was overcrowded with action and excitement as the Bulldogs successfully fought, battled, and struggled furiously to the top in a sensational half rally, after trailing down to the last minute when little Johnny Buckman, substitute forward for the Bulldogs, calmly cut the cords as clean as a whistle on a side shot that shot the Morrissville clan ahead with less than a minute to go, and with the shot that ultimately decided the issue.

Up to this time, the lead literally changed every time one or the other team hung up a point or two during the last two periods, after Morrissville had overcome a five point deficit at the start of the third canto.

Action dominated the tilt through its entirety with both sides providing the fans with an equal number of breathless moments. Long shots, short shots, fancy shots, lucky shots, one hand shots, and every kind plus good passing, fast breaking offensive attack, and a good defense, all were exhibited in this tilt which contained everything a basketball game could possibly contain.

The shot that actually won the struggle as said before, was Johnny Buckman's sensational double-decker, snuck from the right side with the accuracy of an archer fish of Siam. It cut the cords clearly and at about that time the Morrissville fans went into an uproar as their favorites again moved into the lead, this time for keeps for the gun fired about 45 seconds later. That shot released the tense strain upon the fans who witnessed the battle, as they dashed to the floor after the game in wild exultation of their victory.

While it was Buckman's goal that ultimately decided the issue, one cannot overlook the important part that two more fouls to his credit before the quarter ended which gave the up-countyites a lead of 11-7 at the intermission.

Dinda chalked up his fourth foul conversion at the start of the third canto to give the Black and Gold a 12-7 edge. But at this juncture Morrissville started a little scoring all by themselves and in a short time were in front of their opponents, 14-12. Wallace set the spark to the Morrissville hopes when he sank a two-pointer from the middle of the court. Reitzle followed with a floor shot below the net, and Wallace did likewise immediately afterwards, adding a free toss in between to put his team ahead once more, 14-12. McIntyre knotted the count with a shot from a scrimmage under his net, but Wallace proceeded to untie the knot again with a foul. Thus the period ended with Morrissville in the fore, 15-14.

The final chapter, very fittingly in such a game, was the climaxing round. Raulston's shot sent Doylestown ahead, and Miller's goal stretched their lead to 18-15. Wallace's side shot, reduced the lead to a single point, but McIntyre picked up a free ball near his net and promptly registered two more goals played in the fierce struggle. Both teams scored an equal number of field goals but Morrissville tallied exactly two more foul goals than did their opponents—and that spelt victory for the Bulldogs by the slim margin of two points.

Not more than a minute of the game had passed when Raulston sank two points for Doylestown, but fouls by Buyer and Wilson tied the score at 2-2, then Wilson stuck a field goal to forge Morrissville ahead, 4-2. This lead was short-lived as Worthington proceeded to hang up four tallies for the County Seaters. Reitzle scored a foul goal just before the period ended with Doylestown ahead, 6-5.

Buckman's twin-pointer scored under the net after a scrimmage were the only two Morrissville points in the second period. This put them ahead, however, 7-6. But Dinda tied the count once again with a foul. Miller stuck one from the left side, and Dinda added ed two more fouls to his credit before the quarter ended which gave the up-countyites a lead of 11-7 at the intermission.

Dinda chalked up his fourth foul conversion at the start of the third canto to give the Black and Gold a 12-7 edge. But at this juncture Morrissville started a little scoring all by themselves and in a short time were in front of their opponents, 14-12. Wallace set the spark to the Morrissville hopes when he sank a two-pointer from the middle of the court. Reitzle followed with a floor shot below the net, and Wallace did likewise immediately afterwards, adding a free toss in between to put his team ahead once more, 14-12. McIntyre knotted the count with a shot from a scrimmage under his net, but Wallace proceeded to untie the knot again with a foul. Thus the period ended with Morrissville in the fore, 15-14.

The final chapter, very fittingly in such a game, was the climaxing round. Raulston's shot sent Doylestown ahead, and Miller's goal stretched their lead to 18-15. Wallace's side shot, reduced the lead to a single point, but McIntyre picked up a free ball near his net and promptly registered two more goals played in the fierce struggle. Both teams scored an equal number of field goals but Morrissville tallied exactly two more foul goals than did their opponents—and that spelt victory for the Bulldogs by the slim margin of two points.

Not more than a minute of the game had passed when Raulston sank two points for Doylestown, but fouls by Buyer and Wilson tied the score at 2-2, then Wilson stuck a field goal to forge Morrissville ahead, 4-2. This lead was short-lived as Worthington proceeded to hang up four tallies for the County Seaters. Reitzle scored a foul goal just before the period ended with Doylestown ahead, 6-5.

Buckman's twin-pointer scored under the net after a scrimmage were the only two Morrissville points in the second period. This put them ahead, however, 7-6. But Dinda tied the count once again with a foul. Miller stuck one from the left side, and Dinda added two more fouls to his credit before the quarter ended which gave the up-countyites a lead of 11-7 at the intermission.

FALLS TOWNSHIP LOSES TO QUAKERTOWN, 26-15

By Jack W. Gill

The Bucks County tournament opened up in superb style last evening at the local gymnasium with the championship Bucks-Montgomery Quakertown outfit snaring the initial contest from the Fallsington team by the score of 26 to 15.

A near riot was quelled in the latter part of the final quarter when pandemonium broke loose in the form of a brawl between two of the contestants, W. Fry of the winners and Shaeffer of the losers became entangled in the art of fisticuffs, but the battle was ended with little damage being suffered to either party.
